CATHOLIC CONFERENCE OF KENTUCKY

“How are they to call on one in whom they have not believed? And how are they to believe in one of whom they have never heard? And how are they to hear without someone to proclaim him? And how are they to proclaim him unless they are sent? As it is written, ‘How beautiful are the feet of those who bring good news!’”

How beautiful are the feet of those who bring Good News.
INTRODUCTION

In November of 1990 the Bishops of the Archdiocese/Dioceses of Louisville, Owensboro, Covington, and Lexington approved the recommendation for Statewide Guidelines by the Catholic Conference of Kentucky Education Committee for Religious Education.

The specific aim and purpose in developing The Statewide Guidelines for Religious Education is to give direction, unity, consistency and credibility for religious education across the state of Kentucky. These guidelines reflect lifelong catechesis in faithfulness to the Church’s traditions and beliefs. They are designed on a life continuum basis, early childhood through adult. These guidelines, likewise, recognize and affirm the critical role of the catechist in the teaching mission of the Church, and all that this includes, in union with the leadership of the bishop of the diocese.

Returning to the Guidelines in 1997, the Diocesan Directors created a video/guide for parish directors to implement the Guidelines with parents and catechists. Age-specific skills are included to expand the original core concepts.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

A special note of thanks and acknowledgment to the following persons who devoted time and energy in the original (1992) publication of these Statewide Guidelines for Religious Education: Diocesan Directors of Religious Education—Mrs. Sue Grenough (Archdiocese of Louisville), Sister Kathy Gallo, OSU (Diocese of Owensboro), Sister Stella M. Gough, OSB (Diocese of Covington), and Sr. Emily Ann Appleton, SCN (Diocese of Lexington); to diocesan consultants; diocesan committees; to the more than thirty readers of the content; to Mrs. Clare Quigley, typist; and to Ms. Monica Krampe, artist.

Those responsible for the 1998 revision included Mrs. Sue Grenough (Archdiocese of Louisville), Sr. Kathy Gallo, OSU (Diocese of Owensboro), Sr. Stella M. Gough, OSB (Diocese of Covington) and Mr. Patrick Guentert (Diocese of Lexington). Thanks are also due to the readers and consultants, Ms. Marian West, typist, and Ms. Monica Krampe, artist.
OUR CALL TO MISSION

The mission of Jesus, to bring about the realization of God’s presence, is continued in the life of the Church through worship, word, community and service. Catechesis refers to all those activities that enable people to grow in their personal faith life within a community of faith (NCD, 32-33). Catechesis is a lifelong process that aims to make the faith of each individual real, meaningful and alive through instruction, community experience, prayer and social action. Religious education, integral to the catechetical process, proclaims and teaches God’s Word and our faith tradition in order that faith might be enlivened and nurtured.
THE CATECHIST

The strength of a religious education program is in the person of the catechist. The catechist participates in the responsibility of the faith community to instruct others in the faith. Faith, however, is taught more by lived example than by word. Therefore, men and women of deep faith, committed to prayer and scripture, are called as catechists to share faith with others, thus providing leadership in the area of religious education.

As a lifelong learner the catechist:
♦ becomes informed in the faith and acquires the necessary skills to communicate the gospel message
♦ is open to a growing knowledge of Catholic doctrine, scripture, relational skills, and teaching methods
♦ remains current on contemporary church and social issues.
CATECHIST FOR THE YOUNG ADOLESCENT LEARNER

Specifically, the catechist for the young adolescent learner is one who....
♦ loves young people with their unpredictability and struggle toward personal autonomy
♦ is self-disciplined
♦ has a sense of his/her own integrity
♦ is creative, stimulating, fun-loving
♦ is willing and able to share faith stories
♦ is open to learning from adolescents
♦ respects differences in culture, in socio-economic levels, in family structures.

In relation to the young adolescent learner, the catechist....
♦ invites parents into partnership in developing the faith life of their adolescent children
♦ is willing to help young persons believe faith is a gift offered to them
♦ provides models of persons who have responded to the gift of faith and assists learners to make their own responses
♦ works collaboratively with the young adolescent to develop programs/activities
♦ establishes clear, fair, and flexible standards for conduct and courtesy
♦ provides opportunities for success to foster self-esteem
♦ provides opportunities for critical thinking around real-life situations
♦ provides for programs to strengthen the skills needed by the parents of young adolescents.

Y-4
CATECHIST FOR THE OLDER ADOLESCENT LEARNER

Specifically, the catechist for the older adolescent learner is one who....

♦ is a person of faith

♦ witnesses to the gospel and shares faith

♦ witnesses to the Church’s teachings and traditions

♦ shares the life of the Spirit

♦ serves the community

♦ knows the Catholic Christian tradition

♦ is open, vulnerable, accepting and authentic

♦ understands the nature of parent-teen relationships.

In relation to the older adolescent learner, the catechist....

♦ forms partnership with parents

♦ designs and conducts learning experiences using a variety of learning processes, media, methods and resources

♦ relates gospel values to the world of youth in language, images and symbols understandable to youth

♦ involves youth in the design and celebration of worship, prayer, justice and service experiences

♦ provides for programs to strengthen the skills needed by the parents of older adolescents.
SPECIAL LEARNING NEEDS

As catechists we recognize and affirm the uniqueness of each individual person, regardless of what pathway leads most directly to their minds, hearts or souls.

It is our unifying goal to make our religious education programs accessible to all persons and we look for creative ways to address the individual and special needs of all learners. We ask the question, “What gifts can the person with special needs offer our program?” as well as “What can we do for the person with special needs?”.

John Paul II, in his statement on the millennium spoke of “not just an inner joy but a jubilation which is manifested outwardly, for the coming of God is also an outward, visible, audible and tangible event...It is thus appropriate that every sign of joy...should have its own outward expression.” When we, as catechists, present these “signs of joy” in a variety of ways, truly the blind see, the deaf hear and the mentally disabled witness the concrete signs of God’s presence in our midst.

In doing so we open our doors to those with particular learning needs, working in partnership with those with disabilities, their families and others who are knowledgeable about the most effective strategies. We can use these strategies to modify and expand our outreach for the inclusion of all persons within the loving circle of our parishes.

It is the responsibility of the faith community to identify and provide for the religious education of all peoples. Catechesis for those who are cognitively, sensorily or physically disabled will find guidance in a current comprehensive resource, Opening Doors to People with Disabilities: Volume I: A Pastoral Manual, and the background materials included in its 1,400 page second volume, published in loose-leaf format to allow for ease of copying and training purposes. This resource is available from the National Catholic Office For Persons With Disabilities, P.O. Box 29113, Washington, D.C. 20017, (202) 529-2933 (v/tty), (202)529-4678 (fax). Also available are guides for modifying those catechetical materials most commonly used within our parishes. (cf. Resource Page)
CULTURAL DIVERSITY

The Church has a long and rich history of valuing cultural diversity despite persons and times when sensitivity appeared lacking. Note this statement from the Fourth Lateran Council of 1215: “Since in many places within the same city or diocese people of various languages are mingled, possessing under one faith a variety of rites and customs, we firmly order that bishops of such cities and dioceses provide suitable men who according to the diversities of rituals and languages will perform for them the divine ministries and celebrate the sacraments, instructing them both by word and example” (cited by Pius XII in the apostolic constitution Exsul familia §653). In more recent times, popes since Leo XIII have responded to the needs of a world-wide Church in writings on peoples and, especially, on evangelization. Catholic social thought from John XXIII onward has insisted that true and full humanity is achieved only through culture.

Based on these teachings, the National Catechetical Directory, Sharing the Light of Faith, §194 urges catechists and catechetical leaders to be culturally sensitive:

♦ By being able to distinguish among sub-groups within larger groups. For example, the Spanish-speaking, while sharing a common language, include Mexican Americans, Puerto Ricans, Cubans, and others from South and Central America, each group with its distinct cultural characteristics, customs, needs, and potential.

♦ By preparing catechists from the particular racial, cultural, or ethnic group where possible or, at least, employing catechists who understand and empathize with the group.

♦ By using the language of the group being catechized where at all possible. This would include not just the vocabulary but the thought patterns, cultural idioms, customs, and symbols represented by such a language.

♦ By avoiding unrealistic demands on time, physical resources and finances of a particular ethnic group and by making adjustments which correspond to the educational level of those being catechized without shadow of condescension.

♦ By taking into account a group’s special needs in relation to justice and peace, and preparing its members to assume their responsibility for achieving just goals.

Finally, even in culturally homogeneous areas and parishes, catechesis should be multi-cultural. All persons should be educated to know and respect the gift that cultural, racial, and ethnic diversity offers.
CHARACTERISTICS OF THE YOUNG ADOLESCENT LEARNER

♦ is in a period of rapid growth: physical, mental, emotional; may be awkward, uncertain and self-conscious
♦ is becoming more capable of abstract thinking and is acquiring the ability to reason and employ symbolic language
♦ is gradually changing from group interest to interest in one or two “best” friends chosen out of the group
♦ experiences peer prestige as more important than adult approval
♦ conforms to group fads and distances himself/herself from family authority
♦ experiences an increase in sexual awareness
♦ learns faith identity through experience of community customs and traditions
♦ is capable of reflective thinking
♦ is self-conscious and critical.

NEEDS OF THE YOUNG ADOLESCENT LEARNER

♦ to have physical activity
♦ to experience competence and achievement
♦ to formulate self-definition
♦ to engage in creative expression
♦ to be involved in positive social interaction with peers and adults
♦ to know structure and clear limits
♦ to participate in meaningful activities
♦ to begin to develop independence from family.
CHARACTERISTICS OF THE OLDER ADOLESCENT LEARNER

♦ is moving toward critical consciousness (What do I think and why do I think that?)
♦ is establishing a personal identity and further autonomy from parents
♦ is establishing sex-role identity
♦ is experimenting with career choices
♦ is developing internalized morality.

NEEDS OF THE OLDER ADOLESCENT LEARNER

♦ to explore sexuality with a Christian value-based approach
♦ to develop decision-making skills for confronting adult life decisions
♦ to have an atmosphere of trust for building relationships that are mutual and intimate
♦ to be free to critique personal and social values to develop his/her own value system
♦ to begin the process of expanding his/her perspective to encompass self, peer group and the larger society/world
♦ to develop a personal, deeply relational experience of Jesus Christ
♦ to develop a personal spirituality
♦ to set clear boundaries within family--separate but connected.
IMPLICATIONS FOR TEACHING

The ministry of catechesis with adolescents has several distinct features that give direction to catechetical programming. Principles for catechesis of both the younger and older adolescent learner are the same. The specific faith themes for each are listed on the following page.

This catechesis specifically:

♦ is situated within the lifelong developmental process of faith growth
♦ teaches the core content of the Catholic faith
♦ integrates knowledge of the Catholic faith with the development of practical skills for living the Catholic faith in today’s world
♦ utilizes the life experience of adolescents, fostering a shared dialogue between the life of the adolescent and the wisdom of the Catholic faith
♦ engages adolescents in the learning process by incorporating a variety of learning methods and activities
♦ involves group participation in a warm, trusting, caring and accepting environment
♦ fosters the freedom to search and question, to express one’s own point of view, and to respond in faith to that call
♦ provides for real-life application of learning by helping adolescents apply their learning to living more faithfully as Catholic adolescents
♦ promotes family faith development through parish and school programs
♦ recognizes and celebrates multicultural diversity
♦ incorporates a variety of program approaches
♦ explicitly invites young people to explore the possibility of a personal call to ministry and the beauty of the total gift of self for the sake of the kingdom.
FAITH THEMES FOR THE ADOLESCENT LEARNER

The faith themes are divided according to the four pillars of The Catechism of the Catholic Church.

THE PROFESSION OF FAITH

EDUCATION IN HUMAN SEXUALITY

“The ultimate object of education in human sexuality is the personal realization of total sexual identity and the affective maturation of the person.” (HUMAN SEXUALITY: A Catholic Perspective for Education and Lifelong Learning, p.75)

The document Human Sexuality encourages “ongoing formation in human sexuality not only for children and adolescents but also for all people, particularly during major transitions in life (e.g., puberty, moving away from home, engagement/marriage, parenthood, middle age, retirement, divorce or widowhood, ordination/religious vows, aging, serious illness).” (HS, p.5)

In these Guidelines, religious education and education in human sexuality are to be integrated. Instruction in human sexuality education is to be taught from a values-based perspective rooted in Christian faith.

Education in human sexuality, in the Church’s tradition, fosters family values and respect for the dignity of the human person, stresses personal responsibility, promotes wholesome relationships, and recognizes the demands of parenting.

The responsibility of the catechist is to enable the learner to internalize the beauty and sacredness of human sexuality. Through this conscience formation, the learner is able to apply these Christian values and morals to the challenge of everyday life.

...Male and Female God created them.
CORE CONCEPTS FOR LIFELONG RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

In lifelong religious education learners make their faith in God real, meaningful, and alive through instruction, community experience, liturgical and personal prayer, and social action. The Nicene Creed and the National Catechetical Directory and the Catechism of the Catholic Church identify the following core concepts as the doctrinal basis for lifelong religious education. To foster mature faith in individuals and community, the Christian message must be presented in its entirety, while recognizing a certain hierarchy of truths. There are four central truths from which all other truths flow and by which they are illumined.

These four central truths are:

- The Mystery of God, Creator of All Things
- The Mystery of Christ, the Incarnate Word of God
- The Mystery of the Holy Spirit, the Loving Presence of God
- The Mystery of the Church, the People of God.

Related to these central truths, there are core concepts that are of a formational and transformational nature. These move the learner to appropriate and live out the Christian message:

- God Teaches Us How to Live Out Our Salvation
- God Invites Us into Relationship through Personal Prayer and through Community Worship
- God Calls Us to Love and Serve Our Neighbor.

All core concepts are to be applied in age-appropriate ways at every age level of learning. The Core Concepts and their specific categories with age appropriate skills for the learner are outlined on the following pages. Teaching strategies vary with the developmental level of the learner and may be found in diocesan recommended published materials. These core concepts provide for authentic religious education in any program, text or model adopted for use.
CORE CONCEPTS WITH SPECIFIC CATEGORIES

I. The Mystery of God, Creator of All Things.
   1. Demonstrates an understanding of God as creator of all things.
   2. Understands the human person as imaging God.
   3. Recognizes the inter-connectedness of humans with all creation.
   4. Recognizes the call to continuing creation by further developing the Kingdom of God.

4. Acknowledges and affirms the diverse cultural expressions of Catholicism.
   ♦ Describes the impact of concepts such as “global village.”
CATECHETICAL PROCESS

TASK

The aim of religious education is to make a person’s faith become “living, conscious, and active.” Because of the dignity of this pastoral activity, the way faith is nurtured to growth is vitally important. An authentic teaching-learning process is as important as accurate content. All catechists are strongly encouraged to utilize a process that focuses on the Mystery present here and now in all human life. This Mystery demands that, in every lesson, the divine dynamism found in each of our human experiences be considered. Therefore, to provide for maximum effectiveness of this task, the basic elements of the catechetical process, the catechetical method of shared praxis (T. Groome) and two basic approaches to planning, are outlined.

The basic elements of the catechetical process are:

♦ Personal Experience

♦ Scripture

♦ Tradition:
   Community’s Experience
   The Church’s Story

♦ Faith Sharing
  in the context of personal, parish, and world pastoral concerns

♦ Critical Reflection

♦ Response in Service

♦ Prayer

companions on the journey…
THE CATECHETICAL METHOD OF SHARED PRAXIS:

The method of shared praxis as evident in the Emmaus story is outlines as follows:

SHARED PRAXIS

1. What are you doing?
   - A telling of one’s personal story and experience.

2. Why do you do that?
   - A discovery of one’s vision, assumptions, hopes.

3. What is the tradition?
   - A telling of the Christian Story and Vision.

4. Dialogue between:
   - the Christian Story and my story
   - the Christian Vision and my vision seeking to unite the stories and visions.

5. What are you going to do?
   - making decisions about future practice
   - a call to conversion and to action

CATECHETICAL PROCESS

- TELL THE STORY
  - “Two of them were making their way to a village named Emmaus discussing as they went all that had happened...Jesus approached and began to walk along with them...He said to them, ‘What are you discussing as you go your way?’..."

- ASK THE QUESTIONS
  - We were hoping that he was the one who would set Israel free...

- HEAR THE TRADITION
  - Beginning then with Moses and all the prophets, he interpreted for them every passage of scripture which referred to him...

- DIALOGUE WITH THE TRADITION/NEW UNDERSTANDING
  - Stay with us. It is nearly evening...When he had seated himself with them to eat, he took bread, pronounced the blessing, then broke the bread and began to distribute it to them. With that, their eyes were opened and they recognized him...

- RESPONSE
  - Were not our hearts burning inside us as he talked to us on the road and explained the scriptures to us? They got up immediately and returned to Jerusalem... then they recounted what had happened on the road and how they had come to know him in the breaking of the bread.”

TWO BASIC APPROACHES TO PLANNING:

1. GOALS AND OBJECTIVES
   Planning for the religious education experience may be done by setting goals (what one wants to do) and by determining objectives (how the goals will be accomplished). Most textbook curricula are based on this approach.

2. OUTCOMES BASED EDUCATION
   Another method of planning for instruction is outcomes based education (OBE). The outcome or desired result is the measurable change in attitude, skill, or knowledge of the learner. This approach is being used statewide in Kentucky, prompted by the Kentucky Education Reform Act (KERA). This approach can have a positive impact on religious education, especially when questions are asked, such as “What are they learning?” “Why are they doing those things?” etc. For outcomes based religious education answers these questions from the beginning by determining first how the learner will be changed by this educational moment and how the teacher/facilitator will know the specific measurable outcome will be demonstrated by the learner. Textbooks become a resource tool to aid the teaching activities to accomplish the outcome.

The figure below shows the difference between the two types of planning.

GOALS AND OBJECTIVES
   Resources ➔ Processes ➔ Desired Results

OUTCOMES BASED
   Desired Results ➔ Processes ➔ Resources

The ministry of prayer and worship celebrates and deepens young people’s relationship with Jesus Christ through the bestowal of grace, communal prayer and liturgical experiences; it awakens their awareness of the spirit at work in their lives; it incorporates young people more fully into the sacramental life of the Church, especially eucharist; it nurtures the personal prayer life of young people; and it fosters family rituals and prayer.

♦ Promotes the authentic participation of youth in liturgy
♦ Attends to the diversity of cultures and ages in the assembly
♦ Provides opportunities for creative prayer with adolescents in peer, family, and intergenerational settings
♦ Promotes effective preaching of the word
♦ Allows music and song to express the vitality of young people
♦ Prepares the symbols and ritual actions with particular care for their visual dimensions
♦ Develops the interpersonal and communal dimensions of the liturgy
♦ Provides adolescents with effective and intentional catechesis for liturgy, worship, and sacraments
♦ Apprentices adolescents in liturgical ministries
SACRAMENTAL PREPARATION

In these Religious Education Guidelines, sacramental preparation is not being considered as a separate category. Readiness for the reception of the sacraments should be determined by an individual’s and/or an individual’s family faith development and life experience rather than solely by the individual’s age. Furthermore, at whatever age sacraments are received, catechesis is to be age appropriate.

The young adolescent learner who has been initiated into the Church through baptism and Eucharist should baptism, Eucharist, and reconciliation. The immediate preparation and celebration of the sacrament of confirmation should be done according to diocesan policy. All older adolescent learners should have ongoing catechesis for the sacraments of Initiation and for Reconciliation, so as to allow the adolescent to recall the significance of these sacraments and to reflect on any new significance that they have come to hold.

The process of Christian initiation for youth of this age should follow the general pattern of the catechumenate as far as possible, with the appropriate adaptation permitted by the ritual.* Some elements of the ordinary catechetical instruction of baptized children may be appropriately shared with catechumens of catechetical age. The catechumenate stage focuses on experiences of ritual, Scripture, community and initiation. The stage of mystagogy is the appropriate time to reflect on the experience of the sacraments and to deepen one’s understanding of his/her faith. This opens the door to lifelong religious education.

In the church’s tradition, we are a sacramental people in a sacramental church. At every age the sacramentality of life, as well as the sacraments, is explored through appropriate symbols, rituals and catechesis.

CONTEXTS FOR RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

Education in the faith, in Catholic traditions, and in values is lifelong and is to be done within the context of a faith community.

Options for religious education could include:

- Family Based Setting
- Family Centered Setting
- Intergenerational Setting
- Liturgical Catechesis
- Ungraded Groupings
- Classroom Setting
- Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults
- Youth Ministry Inclusive of Catechesis
- Faith Community Groups

Authentic religious education requires trained facilitators or leaders. Such options can meet the diverse needs found within the parish, regional or diocesan setting.

Care should be taken that the truths and traditions of the Catholic faith are handed on in a systematic, intentional manner. Implementing this recommendation may result in a variety of options operating simultaneously in a parish. To coordinate these efforts a catechetical leader needs to be designated.
